Mr. Weaver,

Thank you for the comments included in the paper. It is very helpful and few others do this. I really appreciate the feedback and will take it into consideration when working on assignment three.

And thank you for the polite note. I'm glad to hear I was able to help you through your classes. Please be sure to add this to the course evaluations, which actually becomes part of the official course records.

Good Luck with whatever you do!

Eric and Kebreab,

Thanks for your instruction in Green Infrastructure. During the Envisions project, I was feeling pretty negative about the course, and appreciate you both taking your time to chat with our group to help us through it. In the end I have really enjoyed the course. It helped me tremendously with other classes. My relative expertise gained from Green Infrastructure gave me an advantage in my Concepts of Sustainability project. Thanks again and I look forward to meeting you in person one day.

Dear Ghebremichael,
Dear Eric,

I am [REDACTED] and online student in course IDS 6938.

Eric, I have been meaning to email you to thank you for sharing my assignment #1 corrections with me. Especially for pointing the wrong way I had my references cited. I found that beneficial. I admit, I plug the information of the articles I read into a web base program that convert them into an APA style citations. Apparently it was not doing it properly. So thank you for helping.

This email, however, is to kindly request my beloved professor Dr. Ghebremichael to let you correct my herein assignment #2. I missed the submission deadline last night. My time management went out of control as I was dealing with the final, the presentation and the project of a 4 weeks extensive course I signed up for this semester. As this is no good excuse, I apologize for being late. Still, I remain highly interested in learning about my mistakes in the text of this assignment if it is possible to correct it please.

Also, Dr. I am still trying to request time off so I can meet with you. I could not have Thursdays off to go by your office hours. For I already had Wednesday requested for a previously scheduled appointment with Dr. Kala. As your inout is very valuable to me, I was hoping I can see you before I see him. Because I could not, I went ahead and request the following Thursday -the 13th- off from work in order to attend your office hours. This will be the case if I don't get to meet you before then.

In the mean time, I thank you for your efforts :).
